Blue Coats Appreciation Dinner

The Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton Knights of Columbus Council 11187 honored the City of Pickerington Police and Violet Township Fire Departments at a Blue Coats Appreciation Dinner in Hermann Hall at Seton Parish. More than 100 guests attended the event. Police Chief Michael Taylor and Fire Chief Kenn Taylor were honored and received plaques for their dedicated service to the community through their respective departments. The invocation was given by Monsignor Bill Maroon. Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Dr. Francis "Bud" Joos, Past Grand Knight.

The Knights of Columbus felt the efforts of the police and fire departments were not given the thanks and praise they deserve in keeping the community a safe place to live and work. The community has the newest buildings, the latest equipment, and a fine group of women and men who deserve our support.

This was just our way of saying "THANKS."

Chancellor's Corner

Okay. What can I do now? March is here and Lent is right around the corner. Two dilemmas face me. What do I write about this month and what do I give up for Lent? Perhaps, I can give up writing the Chancellor's challenge for Lent. That would kill two birds with one stone. My Lent penance is covered. I would not have to foray into my shallow mind for deep thoughts! But alas, the throngs of admiring readers (thanks Maureen, thanks Mom) would be greatly disappointed. So instead, I shall search through Lenten descriptions for understanding and assistance in deciding upon my sacrifice. Excuse me if a few of my wandering thoughts slip into the writing. Here we go.

We all know that Jesus spent forty days in the desert praying and fasting in preparation of his calling. Lent, for us older folks, has always been a time when you give up something. This atones for sins and prepares one for the Easter celebration. Cool. I'll give up chocolate and desserts again. That should wipe out about 6 pounds of sins. But, I will probably gain ten back on Easter Sunday in celebration. Better come up with something better.

In modern times, with the RCIA group ready for initiation into our Church, the feeling of "baptism" back into our religion returns with the Lenten season. People still select Lenten observances, but can choose prayer and almsgiving as well as fasting and sacrifice. This strengthens our religious beliefs as we practice our resolve. Maybe I will give up golf for Lent. That would keep me praying for snow. The money spent on rounds of golf could probably finance a smaller parish or pay off our building loans.

As a reminder to us all, fasting is required on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday. Abstinence is called for on both the above days as well as every Friday in Lent. To settle some arguments, fasting means one can eat one normal meal on this day with two other snack type meals ... as long as both snacks together do not add up to an additional meal. So, you cannot eat a burger and shake for one snack followed with fries and a dessert for another. Fasting is required for those ages eighteen to sixty. Abstinence is the omission of meat in your meals or snacks on days listed. You can eat foods made with animal fat. Yummy. Every Catholic over the age of fourteen must abstain on required days. Perhaps I can give up waking my wife and going to the gym for exercise at 5:00 AM in the morning! No. Sleeping in would be a bonus despite the weakened state of my body with all the fasting and abstinence. Besides, my wife would blame me for all the weight that is not peeling from her frame.

Hey, I can count. Lent is forty days. What is with the extra days between Ash Wednesday and Easter! Am I required to "sacrifice" on all the days? Well, according to church law, Sundays are not included in Lent because they are days of celebration. We get to rejoice and break from our "suffering". Friday is the big day of abstinence to coincide with the day Christ suffered most for us in dying on the cross. It all makes sense. Cool ... a legal break! But, now I cannot give up seeing my mother-in-law for Lent. She has the freedom to still sneak down and torture me on Sundays! Maybe, I will give up talking disparagingly about her for Lent. I could suffer through the week, but then on Sundays ... no, better forget this one too. I guess I am not being very Christian here.

Maybe some better sacrifices for me would be to give up the extra food indulgences through Lent and continue this practice throughout the year. I am not ready to give up golf for the year or even Lent, but maybe I could match funds spent on extra rounds with funds tossed in the collection basket or donated to some needy organization. For the early morning exercise, I could sacrifice an occasional day and replace it with a healthy, family-centered, unrushed breakfast complete with prayers to set the day off to a good start. And that mother-in-law thing ... maybe I could try to speak nicely of her through Lent, including Sundays, and the entire year.

I think these examples are closer to the meaning of Lent. Sacrifice, to not only honor what Christ did for us, but to improve ourselves as good Catholics. Learn to master temptation forever, not for just forty days. Strive to live the whole year in his image as He guides us to His kingdom.

So, here is my challenge to you this month. Examine your own lives and select a Lenten sacrifice that will help you grow the most in Catholicism and closer to Christ. Try to refrain from selecting just a "quick fix", but a permanent change to commit more completely to our religion. Good luck with your self-examination. Oh, and by the way, try not to follow the evil-Mike suggestions from early in the article. I will let you know which of the "improved" sacrifices I chose for my own personal pledge. Maureen is pushing for the mother-in-law one. Go figure.

Mike Croyle
Chancellor
